Executive Summary –Homeless Services Division

Purpose

Core Expectation

The core expectation of the Homeless Services Division (HSD) is to strategize workable solutions that effectively mitigate the impact of homelessness on Louisville and the city's residents.

Homelessness remains an urgent and growing issue in Louisville/Jefferson County, requiring rapid planning, quick response, process improvement, and structured problem solving to achieve the goal of reaching functional zero. This includes forging effective partnerships that create an infrastructure to support equitable resilience, despite one's socio-economic situation. HSD also supports the Office of Resilience and Community Services (RCS) in meeting Standards of Excellence as a Community Action Agency.

Division Goals

HSD will mitigate the impact of homelessness for the community by evolving the system of care. HSD will serve as a central office to meet the needs of individuals experiencing homelessness and the community's concerns around unsheltered homelessness. In this role, HSD will manage the Homelessness Task Force and its subcommittees, in partnership with The Coalition for Homeless, the Continuum of Care, and homeless stakeholders; increase coordination in the system of care and enhance communication among partners and with the community; monitor systemic functions to identify and resolve gaps, remove barriers, and improve inefficiencies; research best practices and learn how peer cities are responding; and resource partner organizations to deliver the services that aren't funded through other mechanisms. HSD will execute Ordinance 171-21, being responsive to unsheltered homelessness throughout Metro Louisville, and administer Homeless Initiative general funds to support the vital services needed to aid households from the streets to safety, shelter, and stability.

HSD will employ best practices and utilize data-driven decision making. HSD advocates for those who experience homelessness, recommending and advocating for changes to policies and practices. As a division, HSD will research best practices in homeless services and systems of care, as well as evaluate current services for operational effectiveness. HSD will also develop and employ best practices for data management, by creating and utilizing a data management plan used for linking efforts to outcomes and reporting and transparency.

HSD will create an increased understanding of homelessness and available resources.

Mitigating homelessness will require the participation of the entire community, not just those who serve the homeless population. HSD will strive to engage those experiencing homelessness, those who encounter someone affected by homelessness, the organizations and individuals combating this problem, the stakeholders affected by the growing homeless population, and local policy makers. To enact better community-wide solutions, HSD will make larger-scale and more coordinated efforts to educate and involve more segments of the public on the issue of homelessness.

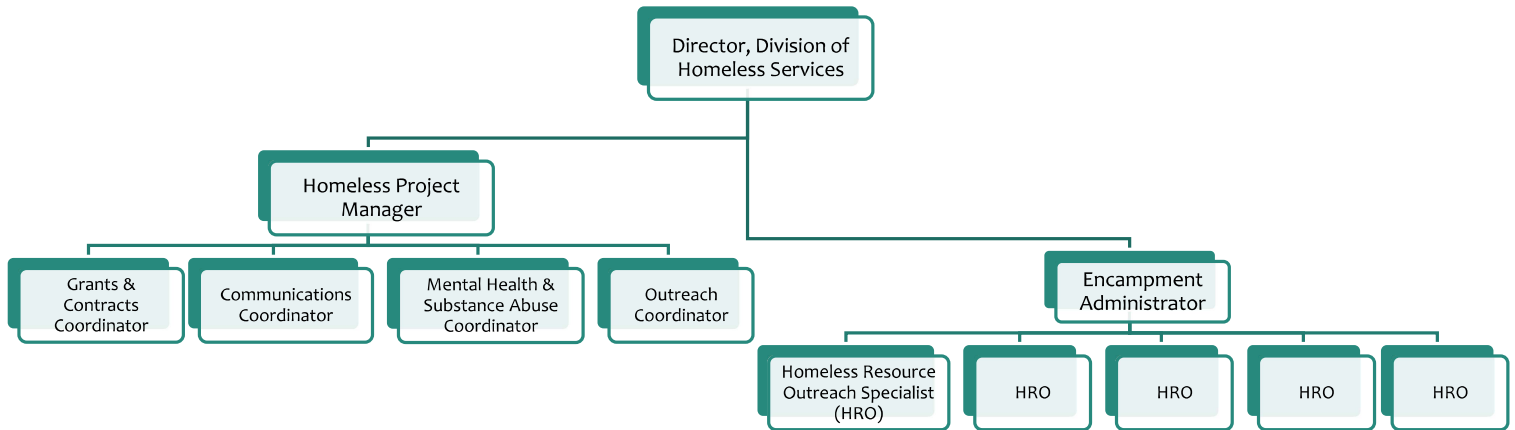

HSD will apply a racial equity lens to the system of care. HSD will be responsive to the needs of the community by proactively advancing a system of care that recognizes the humanity and unique circumstances of each individual. The division values partnerships with community organizations that provide opportunities and promote access to inclusive services that apply housing first principles, engage in harm reduction practices, and employ trauma-informed care. Moreover, individuals experiencing homelessness must be active participants in designing services intended to benefit them. Ensuring the population has an active voice will lead to positive and productive ways to evolve the system of care and increase housing stability.

Objectives

- To increase operational capacity within Louisville Metro Government to coordinate homeless outreach and services
- To increase operational capacity within RCS to support social service organizations who serve the homeless population
- To research and apply national best practices, analyze local trends, and address community gaps and barriers to services and housing
- To increase collaboration with internal and external agencies to improve services that support individuals experiencing homelessness to move from the streets to shelter, housing, and stability
- To build knowledge and understanding of the complex issues that impact housing instability and homelessness, as well as Louisville's homeless system of care
