SPONSORED BY: COUNCIL MEMBERS DORSEY, CHAMBERS ARMSTONG, SHANKLIN, ARTHUR, BOWENS, AND PURVIS

WHEREAS, the Prison Policy Initiative estimates that, as of 2020, there were 2.3 million Americans who were incarcerated; and

WHEREAS, the Brennan Center estimates that nearly half of Black men will be arrested by the time they turn 23; and

WHEREAS, that same organization states that the same number of Americans have a criminal record as have a four-year college degree; and

WHEREAS, one study estimates that having a felony conviction on one's record is correlated with a 22 percent decrease in annual earnings (Terry-Ann Craigie, Conviction, Imprisonment, and Lost Earnings: How Involvement with the Criminal Justice System Deepens Inequality (Sep. 15, 2020) <https://www.brennancenter.org/our-work/research-reports/conviction-imprisonment-and-lost-earnings-how-involvement-criminal>); and

WHEREAS, that same study shows that white people who have been incarcerated see their income trend upward after their incarceration, whereas Black and brown people do not; and

WHEREAS, studies suggest that even a misdemeanor conviction is associated with a 16% decrease in annual wages (Terry-Ann Craigie, Conviction, Imprisonment, and Lost Earnings: How Involvement with the Criminal Justice System Deepens Inequality (Sep. 15, 2020) <https://www.brennancenter.org/our-work/research-reports/conviction-imprisonment-and-lost-earnings-how-involvement-criminal>); and

WHEREAS, numerous studies show that Black individuals are more likely to be charged with a serious crime and more likely to face a longer sentence than are white people (An Unjust Burden, Vera: Institute of Justice (May, 2018). <https://www.vera.org/publications/for-the-record-unjust-burden>); and

WHEREAS, a recent report by the Brennan Center explained that the fact those who are disproportionately poor and Black means that these groups also disproportionately face economic barriers like hiring discrimination and lost job opportunities (Terry-Ann Craigie, Conviction, Imprisonment, and Lost Earnings: How Involvement with the Criminal Justice System Deepens Inequality (Sep. 15, 2020) <https://www.brennancenter.org/our-work/research-reports/conviction-imprisonment-and-lost-earnings-how-involvement-criminal>); and

WHEREAS, data from the Bureau of Labor Statistics shows that Kentucky has the seventh-lowest workforce participation rate in the country; and

WHEREAS, many employers are in need of workers; and

WHEREAS, Metro Council believes it is in the public interest to address barriers to employment and help people with criminal records to have a fair chance at obtaining employment.
