WHEREAS, according to the Campaign Legal Center (“CLC”), of the 750,000 people incarcerated in jails in 2019, most are detained pretrial;

WHEREAS, although most people in jail retain their constitutional right to vote, few actually cast ballots according to the CLC;

WHEREAS, misinformation about eligibility, barriers to voting registration, including lack of identification, and challenges to casting a ballot all suppress an incarcerated person’s ability to vote;

WHEREAS, this problem is particularly insidious because currently incarcerated voters are disproportionately Black, low-income voters, homeless voters and voters with disabilities;

WHEREAS, the number one factor that impacts voter turnout is voter education and outreach which is particularly crucial in jails;

WHEREAS, creating election infrastructures that make voting accessible to all eligible currently incarcerated voters is important to voter access in jails;

WHEREAS, in one of his first official acts, Kentucky Governor Andy Beshear signed an Executive Order on December 12, 2019 automatically restoring the voting rights to many formerly incarcerated people; however, many currently incarcerated people are unsure whether or not they are eligible for restoration;

WHEREAS, one solution to voting rights restoration is to ensure that criminal defendants are informed: (1) before conviction and sentencing to prison, that they will lose their voting rights; and (2) upon release from prison and/or release to community supervision, that they are again eligible to register and vote;

WHEREAS, even if currently incarcerated people are qualified to vote, acquiring voter registration forms or an absentee ballot while incarcerated is challenging when someone cannot use the internet or easily contact the Board of Elections in their community;

WHEREAS, to help currently incarcerated people register to vote, some policies include making the Department of Corrections and Probation and Parole authorities responsible for assisting with voluntary voter registration and/or establishing a no-excuse in-person absentee voting ballot drop box at the jail site;

WHEREAS, in Kentucky, currently incarcerated people qualified to vote may apply to cast his or her vote by mail-in absentee ballot which shall be mailed to the jail; however, difficulties still arise due to application deadlines, fear of compromised ballot secrecy and population churn in the jails;

WHEREAS, establishing a no-excuse in-person absentee voting ballot drop box at the jail eliminates many of the barriers associated with voting;

WHEREAS, an estimated 21 million Americans do not have valid government identification, according to the Brennan Center for Justice, a nonpartisan voter advocacy group;

WHEREAS, in Kentucky, registered voters are required to produce identification whether the voter is casting an absentee ballot or voting in person which creates an additionally barrier to voting access especially for disenfranchised individuals who may not have access to a computer, credit card or birth certificate;

WHEREAS, the average cost of a government ID is $40, according to voting rights advocates; and

WHEREAS, voter ID clinics, through expertise and financial support, help individuals obtain the government identification they need not only to vote, but to obtain many social services.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL OF THE LOUISVILLE/JEFFERSON COUNTY METRO GOVERNMENT (“COUNCIL”) AS FOLLOWS:

Council further supports establishing no-excuse in-person absentee voting ballot drop box locations at jail sites to ensure that many of the barriers experienced by currently incarcerated people in voting are eliminated.
