Oddly I received no notice until I was forwarded a copy by Martina. Add my voice to the list of those who worked very hard to navigate this structure's safety initially, and I believe the structure to be an ever growing rarity in the urban core. That we cannot better assure the lifespans of contributing structures, with a downtown plan that originally accounted for our significant built past, is oddly familiar. Perhaps we can reconstruct the Water Co building and the Morrissey on this facade-free expanse of urban lawn and restitch the fabric the Oddfellows building maintains against Ominous Odds.

I had tons of teenage fun in this marvelous building growing up. She can outlast the hotel and be a catalyst for the block. She always was.

Best,
