Edith H. Nixon

Edie Nixon was born and raised in Louisville. She graduated from Princeton University with a BSE degree in Civil Engineering. Upon graduation, she joined the family company, D.D. Williamson. The Company manufactures and sells colors to the food industry around the world from facilities located in the US, Ireland, England, China, Malaysia, Swaziland, Brazil and Chile. During her tenure, she worked in and oversaw a variety of areas such as logistics, manufacturing, international sales, information technology and quality/project management. These various tasks allowed her to travel to most of the locations. Even though she has retired, she remains active with the company serving on its Board of Directors.

Edie was diagnosed with Rheumatoid Arthritis (RA) while in college. This diagnosis increased her interest and passion for healthcare. She has been an active volunteer and supporter of the Arthritis Foundation serving on the National Board of Trustees, as well as the Great Lakes Regional board, chair of the Ohio River Valley market and the Louisville Advisory Committee. She received an Achievement recognition for her service to the Foundation.

Her RA and mother's cancer diagnosis has led to volunteering for and supporting Norton Healthcare. She serves as Vice Chair of the Board of Trustees. She also serves as Chair of the Strategic Planning Committee, Vice Chair of the Quality and Patient Safety committee, a member of the Ethics Council, and the Norton Cancer Institute's Oncology Education Committee.

Upon retirement, Edie has been focused on giving back to the community. She was in the Leadership Louisville class of 1994 and currently participating in Encore Louisville. She is the Treasurer of her church, St. Matthew's Episcopal, Treasurer of the Louisville Kennel Club and a member of the Clifton Architectural Review Committee.
