Ms. St. Germain,

We have only had time for a telecon but this is what I have gathered. Dr. Satavolu can correct me if I misunderstood.

- BioProducts will take distillery waste and make Xylose & fertilizer. Processes at this site would be low temperature and low pressure (<100F/100psi)
- I did not perceive that they would be making BioCoal at this site. I imagine that would require higher temperature and pressure and we would be interested in what their design code would be if they start such processes.
- They promise no odors or loud noise.
- They plan to meet with the folks at Axis.
- They expect 4 trucks a day on first shift. If they expand to 2 shifts, no trucks will come at night.

We have posted to our SM and have not heard any objections at this time.

Thanks for following up,
Lisa Santos

Ms. Santos,

It is my understanding that you have met with the applicant. Can you let me know how that meeting went?

Ms. St. Germain,
Irish Hill is interested in meeting with the applicant. We have had various issues with previous operators at this site, including noise and odors.

Thanks,
Lisa Santos
