RE: "U-of-L Grawenmeyer Award Plagiarizing My Wellness Maintenance System for U.S. Service-members & Veterans; and New Therapy for Autism"

Honorable Council Members,

I have three important updates for this fourth message to you about my "wellness system" for U.S. service-members. See attached my unanswered Dec. 31, 2015 letter to Army Chief of Staff Mark Milley, again requesting "implementation status" on Operation: Service-member Wellness Maintenance (O.S.W.M.). Recall that Wellness Maintenance makes-up two specific programs: the Service-members Stressors Identification & Management Program (SSIMP), and the Service-members Stress & Anxiety Reduction Program (SSARP). The Anxiety Reduction Program operates my "2002 invention" called Inflectional Therapy (I.T.). The U.S. military has my 2002 cursory study showing Inflectional Therapy actually cures manic depression and post-traumatic stress. Because Congress, Pres. Obama and the Pentagon are refusing to give an implementation status, it is obvious they want to employ my programs for our service-members, but without crediting my work. See again attached my May 29, 2015 letter to Senator John McCain on this matter.

Next, in December 2015, University of Louisville (U-of-L) announced its 2016 Grawenmeyer Award for Psychology to Dr. Steven Maier of University of Colorado, for identifying "trauma objectives" that are already fully developed in my 2002 therapy. See Pages 1 & 2 of my January 19, 2016 evidentiary letter to U-of-L's Grawenmeyer Executive Director requesting Dr. Maier's Award be rescinded. Here, U-of-L and Gov't are trying to re-write history, but my work is documented since 2002.

Next, said letter to U-of-L announces my new therapy for autism. This therapy, currently called Conveyance Therapy (C.T.), helps to normalize behavior in autistic infants & children. See the 7-page letter linked to the top of the homepages on both my websites. It gives synopsis of the neural framework of autism that is guiding the outlays of this new therapy.

As you well know, the benefits of these therapies would improve lives in both the mental health & autistic communities. But until my Wellness System for Our service-members is resolved, I cannot publish the new therapy for autism. So, I will continue to hangout at the Big-Four Bridge asking for your support in resolving this situation.

Thank you!

RE: Update on My Latest Work, Therapy for Autistic Kids & Adults;
• Still Awaiting Status on
Operation: Service-member Wellness Maintenance (OSWM)

Dear Gen. Milley,

It is painful to have provided the U.S. military with my needed wellness system (OSWM) for saving the lives of service-members and their families, but only to have the Pentagon to dishonor this process by trying to steal away my work / intellectual property. This shameful leadership depicts the way of the world, today. For each person must decide how [he] will live his life. – Ex-Chief-of-Staff Gen. Raymond T. Odierno is such example of immoral leadership that must have weakened the U.S. Army, at-large.

Attached are documents showing the latest developments to Actress Holly Robinson-Peete. The Pentagon's refusal to provide a status on OSWM is also holding-up my presentment of a new therapy for reaching autistic infants, children, & adults. As you may well know, the autism epidemic affects approx. 20% of children, today. And see the related scandal brewing at the University of Louisville.

Gen. Milley, I again ask the Pentagon to "reinstate ethical leadership" by providing a "forthright status" on OSWM. Please stop cheating the world out of life.

RE: Grawemeyer Award to Dr. Steven Maier Should Be Rescinded;

- Cobble's Operational Inflectional Therapy (I.T.) Cures PTSD;
- A Neural Framework for Treating Autism,
Publishing Conveyance Therapy (C.T. Program)

Dear Dr. Leonard,

Please enter the herein package of papers into UofL's Grawemeyer Awards record (see itemization, Page 4). (NOTE: This letter-text was copyrighted on Jan 19, 2016.)

As we discussed, said package comprise 13 Sub-packet samplings of many of the evidentiary documents on my work, and publicity, of developing therapeutic processes for mental depression, including PTSD, anxiety, and the management of stressors. Ultimately, this work became under the "operational umbrella" called Operation: Service-member Wellness Maintenance (OSWM). This matter is in regards to UofL's 2016 Grawemeyer Award being given to Dr. Steven Maier who claims the same objectives as my work. – OSWM was provided to the U.S. military as a holistic (non-medical, low-cost) therapeutic cure for PTSD that's affirmed by my 2002 cursory study.

To wit, it is not ethical (and likely not legal) to award Dr. Maier for Psychology. For, not only since 2002 has my work achieved the two objectives Dr. Maier claims of 1) resilience to trauma and 2) aids in coping with future adversity, but too, I have developed "actual working therapies" and "programs" based on these two objectives, using quite comparable terminology as shown in the Sub-packets. The U.S. Government (U.S. military) has studied- and is apparently interested in implementing my work, but without my legal authorization.

Grawemeyer Award Director Woody Petry states Dr. Maier's work "can be applied to aging, military training, the workplace, and stress-reduction practices such as mindfulness." If so, Dr. Leonard, then what process(es), techniques, or therapy is being applied, here? What are the nomenclatures of his work? Please provide documentation showing "when," "where," and "how" such work was developed. Who has tested & collaborated with his work?

The herein papers show I have been publicizing my work within the Louisville community, and around the country, shortly after "my final submission" on OSWM to the U.S. military, on Sept. 11, 2013. So, certainly UofL must have been well aware of this extensive work. Whereby, how can Dr. Maier qualify to receive the Grawemeyer Award?

COPY

– It is very likely the U.S. military “seeded” Dr. Maier with my work, to avoid crediting me, in attempts to steal-away the “processes” & objectives of OSWM.

Yet given the significance of my work, its high functionality, UofL should be helping to resolve my legal issues with the U.S. military, and assist in implementing my work to the millions of sufferers of PTSD, depression, anxiety, etc, around the world.

This, of course, includes my most recent work of helping to diminish autism in children and adults, called Conveyance Therapy (C.T.). But I cannot work to publish the C.T. Program while OSWM / I.T. is not resolved. I should not be treated in this manner by the world; I am a contributing citizen. – [This] “collective mistreatment” represents yet another “mental disconnect” (MD) of behavior by society (see Neural Framework of Autism, Page 3).

• THE NEURAL FUNCTION OF INFLECTIONAL THERAPY (I.T.): I believe your study of the herein papers will show I have a basic understanding of the “neural framework” of mental depression & anxiety. The “neural function” I discovered is “the automatic operation” of “memory filing.” Memory filing is a “primal, retroactive function” of the brain that was conducive to the survival of “early man.” However, today, memory filing is disrupted / overridden by the “relative modern development” of the “emotional intellect,” the ego. Today’s intellect has given rise to “emotionally-based memories” that tend to remain in consciousness, even though the brain is trying to rid (file away) these memories.

The properly conducted “inflectional process” (within approx. a 4-month period) breaks down “subliminal resistance to memory filing” by intervening the memory cycle. As you well know, the intellect is a developed yet idealized “operation” of the brain’s executive function that harbor emotions. Not only does I.T. allow emotions to be “filed away” within the “current session” for prompt relief, but within the 4 months, consciousness, itself, learns to “cooperate” with memory filing (as it did millions of years ago) so that I.T. is no longer needed; memory then files away on its own as directed by the executive function.

In conclusion: I.T. restores the retroactive neural function of memory filing by breaking-up the cycle of emotionally-based memories that plague consciousness. My cursory study affirms that I.T. has actually cured manic depression and PTSD, and within the specified period of 4 months (when conducted as directed). Moreover, it must be presumed the U.S. military has fully tested I.T. and also concluded its high-level functionality. – I believe I.T. can also heal the “psychological aspects” of ADHD.

Most accordingly, the SERVICE-MEMBERS STRESS & ANXIETY REDUCTION PROGRAM (SSARP), that solely administers I.T., is “ideally applied” promptly after the service-member experiences mental trauma or grief, to prevent development of PTSD.

RE: (Fort Knox, KY, May 12, 2015) Army PTSD Father John Jonas Kills His 11-year Old Tasha Jonas & Himself (as Murder / Suicide)

- In-unit Wellness Maintenance Could've Saved Their Lives

Dear Senator McCain,

I am in receipt of your May 20, 2015 response letter regarding the Pentagon refusing to give me an "implementation status" on Wellness Maintenance (OSWM) for our service-members within their units, veterans, and their families. - A ready-reference copy of your letter is attached, hereto.

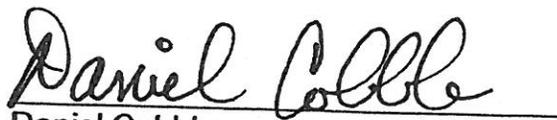

You say you turned this matter over to Sen. Mitch McConnell, my home state. But as I informed you, Sen. McConnell, Pres. Obama, Sen. Rand Paul, Sen. Elizabeth Warren and others "are also refusing" to respond to this critical matter of Our national security. It proves Gov't wants Wellness Maintenance for our soldiers, but is determined to "not recognize me" as the legal inventor; i.e., if Americans do not respond, here, to your "immoral leadership" that's weakening Our military and the U.S. before the world.

While you people have used OSWM as a "political football" since October 2013 (Pentagon's due date for giving me a status), on May 12, 2015, Fort Knox, Kentucky soldier John Jonas, in suffering post-traumatic stress (PTSD), shot & killed his 11-year old daughter Tasha and himself in their front yard. - Yet, if Wellness Maintenance was in-place by now, John's condition would have been "screened" by his unit's SERVICE-MEMBERS STRESSORS IDENTIFICATION & MANAGEMENT PROGRAM (SSIMP). He then would be ushered into the unit's SERVICE-MEMBERS STRESS & ANXIETY REDUCTION PROGRAM (SSARP). In SSARP, John would've undergone Inflectional Therapy, proven to diminish PTSD, depression, and anxiety. (When in-unit SSARP is applied to mental trauma & grief directly after a mission, it can prevent development of PTSD).

Sen. McCain, please help protect Our suffering soldiers, vets, and their families by requiring Congress to press the Pentagon for an "implementation status" on OSWM.

PLEASE DO NOT PUT ANOTHER SERVICE-MEMBER'S CHILD IN DANGER.

Thank you! Very sincerely,

Daniel Cobble

RE: ATTEMPTS TO CHANGE HISTORICAL RECORD – UofL Grawenmeyer
Award for Psychology is Plagiarizing My Well-documented
2002 Cure for P.T.S.D., ETC; & Preventing Developmental Work / Therapy for Autism

To whom it may concern:

Enclosed is my 7-page Jan. 19, 2016 evidentiary letter-packet to Dr. Charles W. Leonard of the UofL Grawenmeyer Awards, identifying my work of developing a therapy that actually cures cyclical (manic) mental depression and P.T.S.D. (post-traumatic stress disorder).

However, UofL is awarding the Grawenmeyer for Psychology to Dr. Steven Maier (Uni. of Colorado), even though he is claiming the “same objectives” of my work that’s well documented since 2002. – I have been publicizing my work since 2013, of which UofL must’ve known about.

My comprehensive work is also “officially pending” with the U.S. military (Army Chief of Staff). But the military is refusing to give me a status (on Operation: Service-member Wellness Maintenance – O.S.W.M.).

To make matters worse, this refusal to resolve O.S.W.M. is preventing development of my therapy for Autism (see letter-packet).

Apparently, here, UofL and federal Gov’t are trying to change the “historical record.” If not resolved, then I must file a Complaint with the state Attorney General.
