The cost per sign is $188 and includes installation, usually installed under the official street name if room is available. It could read "John Asher Way". Attached is the typical style but we could do something different for the pictograph on the left side of the sign if you didn't want a picture of John. It'll be a double sided sign and both faces would be the same, unlike the picture. Public Works would accept the funds and the guys & gals can probably get this fabricated and installed before Derby if that is what you need.

Subject: Street name signs

Hi Jeff!

Per our conversation our District 15 office spoke to Kevin Flanery at Churchill Downs today (3/27/19) about honorary street name signs for "John Asher". I have several questions:

1. What are the cost per sign?
2. Are they installed right under the actual street name sign?
3. What do they look like?
4. If they decide on this can it say "John Asher Way"?
5. Once we appropriate the $money can these be installed quickly?
6. Who would be the one to accept our $money?
