LOUISVILLE

Louisville/Jefferson County Landbank Authority

Purpose and History

- Formed in 1989 as partnership between taxing entities – JCPS, Commonwealth of Kentucky, and Louisville Metro Government (formerly City and County).
- Purpose is to turn vacant properties into tax-producing properties.
- Intended to be one part of a larger solution to the complex problem of vacant and abandoned properties.
- In control of approximately 600 vacant parcels. Louisville Metro has approximately 5,000 vacant and presumed abandoned parcels.
- FY18 included the introduction of several new sales program, which produced the highest sales year on record – 125 sales!

Acquisition

- Foreclosure or Donation of vacant lots or vacant structures. Once in Landbank's ownership, they are no longer "abandoned."
- Both processes clean the title of tax and code enforcement liens.
- Foreclosure cleans title of other liens as well.
- Structures are moderately to severely distressed.
- Each foreclosure costs $4,000-$6,000.

Property Disposition

Disposition Program for Structures: Requests for Proposals (RFP)

Properties are safe enough to walk through.

Applications are scored on various criteria.

Open houses are held for potential buyers to view.

Generally finished within 6-12 months.

Disposition Program for Structures: Last Look

Properties are demolition candidates and are in severely distressed shape.

Phase 1: Save the Structure

Phase 2: Demo for Deed

Disposition Programs: Vacant Lots

Application Review and Sale

- VPPA staff reviews that buyers:
 - Have proof of funds
 - Have no unpaid taxes
 - Have no open code enforcement liens on any of their properties
- Sales are approved monthly by Landbank Authority board members.
- Deeds are restricted by terms of sale.

Project Monitoring

- Each project is monitored by VPPA staff through project completion.
- When unexpected delays occur, buyers and VPPA staff work through extension requests.
- It is the goal of the Landbank to see projects completed successfully, even if it takes longer than expected. Alternatives are costly to LMG.
