I understand both sides of this case. There is a need with the new renovations they made for more parking. I'm guessing a larger parking garage is too much money and will take too long for the need of parking they probably have currently.

However, that is a large amount of mature forestry that will displace wildlife and all the other effects that go with taking away canopy from urban areas. I propose if they do this, for every tree they demolish, they should replant somewhere in the neighborhood to make up for the loss. Maybe along the sidewalk out front so there is more shade. Maybe in the park, but at least somewhere so that the loss is not as severe. Just thoughts. They have the money to do that.

Good morning, Ms. Clark

I am a local resident of the "ZooLou" neighborhood near Audubon Hospital.

It has come to our community's attention that Norton intends to cut down several mature trees to accommodate this parking lot, to which I am strongly opposed.

Our neighborhood is a jewel in the urban landscape of Louisville, as it has a large, mature tree canopy that is home to many native birds, bugs, and microorganisms that we all need to thrive. With the recent air quality issues, we need these trees now, more than ever!

Norton has continued expansion into the vacant businesses near this neighborhood, making it feel like we are being overrun with medical industry without regard to the residents who live there. This expansion seems like it can be avoided if we get a little creative! :)

I would like to humbly encourage you to propose a shuttle system from the Existing Norton immediate Care parking lot next door, over cutting down our beloved tree canopy. I feel like this could be a viable solution to the alleged parking shortage at the hospital. This will save money by eliminating a construction project of this size, and will create jobs for those in the area.

Thank you so much for considering/passing on this request. It means so much to all of us in the neighborhood.

I hope you had a wonderful weekend!

Warmly,

Stephanie Grooms, MPH

Good morning,

I am writing to you as a concerned resident of the Louisville Zoo neighborhood. My concern is regarding Norton Audubon Hospitals's proposed plans to build a parking lot on a current mature forest area.

The removal of mature trees from the area for urban development is a poor decision on Norton's part, and will not help the community. With a tax exempt status of 501(c)(3), there is an obligation to serve the community and I do not see how more parking spots proves this helps the community when I personally know that both of their already established parking garages (and lot next to it) frequently have available spots.

PLEASE do not allow them take more precious green space for our neighborhood.

I appreciate your time and consideration in this matter,

Meagan Coke
