

ASHLYN ACKERMAN

GRADUATE ARCHITECT

PERSONAL BIO

Ashlyn Ackerman is a graduate architect currently working in the field of historic renovation and real estate development with Weyland Ventures in downtown Louisville. She earned her BA and MArch from Ball State University. Originally from Jasper, Indiana, an internship brought her to the Louisville area in 2013, where she fell in love with the city's small-town feel, culture, and welcoming people; she moved downtown in 2014 to begin her career. She is passionate about community-driven, sustainable design and historic preservation, with several notable projects to her credit in the Louisville, Muncie, and Jasper areas.

Since moving to Louisville, she has become involved with the Junior League of Louisville, serving as Marketing/PR chair, Court-Appointed Special Advocates (C.A.S.A.), serving as a board member, and the American Institute of Architects, serving on the programs committee. Personally, Ashlyn is a devoted dog mom to two Bichon Frises, an avid macaron baker, yoga enthusiast, and Etsy shop owner.
