Which tour did you attend? * April 19, 2023

Was the purpose of the tour clearly communicated? * Yes

Did you know about middle housing before the tour? * No

After the tour, do you have a better understanding of middle housing? * Yes

Tell us about your experience. What did you like most or least about the tour or the middle housing types shown on the tour? I love the community and walkability aspect of middle housing! It seems much more suitable for long term human well being.

It's no secret that we have needs for more housing generally and in particular more affordable units in Louisville. The tour really makes a strong case that middle housing can (and already does) work seamlessly into our existing neighborhoods. Zoning is such a powerful tool, so the implications for zoning reform are critical if we want to have healthy communities in the next generation. I really appreciate the push being made by the planners. Thank you!

Tell us about your experience. What did you like most or least about the tour or the middle housing types shown on the tour?	House-sized residential buildings with two or more units and no more than 3 floors. It is about density and creating housing opportunity and choice for all people across all of Louisville.

It was amazing to actually experience and view examples of different types of housing....I suggest this type of training/education for Louisville Metro employees AND more residents of Louisville. The collaboration between AARP and planning and zoning adds to the diversity of the participants. I was excited to as many participants on a Saturday morning. You can really feel the excitement and passion from Joel Dock as he shared his knowledge. Thank you so much for this learning opportunity. I am currently researching for more ways to utilize and expound on the new information I learned today.
