RE: Case# 19-Zone-0060

Land Development and Transportation Committee
ATT: Dante St. Germain

On February 17, 2020 the Original Highlands Neighborhood Association Board of Directors unanimously voted to urge your commission deny an application to change the zoning of 1400 Hepburn from R5B to R8A, as requested by the owner/applicant.

Such a change would go against our neighborhood plan as approved in 2006 (as proposed by Louisville Metro Department of Planning and Design Services). The plan explicitly states that the area south of Morton Avenue should be exclusively zoned only to R5B. (page 39, ES-3) and remain single or two family residential

Subject Property: 1400 Hepburn Avenue
Zoning Change: R-5B to R-8A

Dear Ms. St. Germain,

At first blush I thought Alex Wilson's representative John Talbott was being flip when he reassured myself and fellow neighbors at the first informational meeting that this zoning change will go forward and will be approved. Possibly, someone told Mr. Wilson not to worry that the zoning code did not match the building use because it would easily be changed to fit his needs by the planning committee; or he did not do his due diligence prior to the handsome price he paid.

Either way, I do not believe this committee will require Mr. Wilson to change the number of rental units to reflect the zoning code now in place (R-5A)/two family residential.

The Original Highland Neighborhood Association created a neighborhood plan, placing a moratorium on dividing up the grand old homes within the Original Highlands area, which was forward thinking and in the best interest of the residents. The OHN Plan clearly states an expressed interest in ensuring the neighborhood remain primarily single-family or at most two-family neighborhood. As a point of interest, in the summary of Plan 2040 Comprehensive Plan for Louisville Metro it predicts a slight, but steady decline in residential population in the Southeast Core, tract #64.

Can OHN, at the very least, request that a 1400 Hepburn Avenue be brought to code and copies of building permits be presented to the OHN board for reassurances of Mr. Wilson's desire to be a good property owner/neighbor?

Capitalism can be good when held in moral check. It is my hope that this committee does not allow the way this zoning change took place set a precedent.

Land Development and Transportation Committee

This evening the Original Highlands Neighborhood Association Board of Directors unanimously voted to urge your commission deny an application to change the zoning of 1400 Hepburn to OR-2 Office Residential.

Such a change would go against our neighborhood plan as approved in 2006 (as proposed by Louisville Metro Department of Planning and Design Services). It would also open the door to future commercial encroachment. The plan explicitly states that the area south of Morton Avenue should be exclusively zoned only to R5B. (page 39, ES-3)

Dear Dante St. Germain,

I am writing to document my opposition to the re-zoning of 1400 Hepburn/Louisville to OR-2.

The Original Highlands Neighborhood Association (OHNA) prepared a neighborhood land use plan for Louisville Metro Department of Planning + Design. Within the agreed plan it clearly states:

- a) maintain / encourage neighborhood residential use on East/West streets
- b) Keep businesses on the North/South streets i.e. Barrett Ave, Baxter Ave,
Bardstown Rd.

As recently reported the N/S corridor of OHNA is in need of vibrant, steady, diverse businesses. It makes sense to drive + keep the land use agreement keeping offices out of <sup>ETW</sup> residential corridors.

Mr. Wilson purchased 1400 Hepburn for a handsome price, but failed to do any discovery prior to his purchase regarding the desired character of the neighborhood; i.e. how the homeowners would like to preserve the charm of our traditional urban neighborhood.

A legitimate fear as a homeowner is to see the zoning change thus opening the flood gate for more offices/businesses to infiltrate the residential streets. — changing the (I ~~contest~~ destroying) the make-up of our unique neighborhood — (this has already been seen with the unchecked Air BnB businesses in OTHN.)

- ✓ Can anyone guarantee that property values will not decrease if this zoning change is approved? Shouldn't land value be paramount?
- ✓ How do we keep to traditional urban neighborhood values if the <sup>OR 2</sup> zoning is approved.
 Neighborhood: by definition diverse people/families, activities
 "seen, known, with shared values"
- ✓ Just because you can — doesn't mean you should.

OPPOSE '9-ZONE 0060

In conclusion, we did not choose to buy a home in the Original Highlands neighborhood thinking they, wouldn't it be great to have businesses mixed into the residential area = NO we thought the Highlands was regarded by Louisville Metro Planning + Design and by the Councilman as scared, unique, beloved and well worth keeping in fact as a true neighborhood.

* Please decline the zone change to

Ms. St. Germain, I am writing to express my opposition to the zoning change application for 1400 Hepburn Avenue. I am aware that you have received information from other neighbors regarding the Neighborhood Plan and the appraisal for the property, so I won't waste your time. I will just summarize by saying that the neighborhood has intentionally down-zoned over the past few decades with the approval of elected officials, that the property is zoned R5B, and that it appears the previous owner carved it up in violation of the existing zoning. This is something that would have been apparent to the new purchaser. In fact, I looked at the property when it was on the market and decided not to pursue it because it was clearly in violation of its zoning. The purchaser went ahead and is now trying to argue that he should get to zone it for a higher density because of the unauthorized activity of the previous owner. There is not enough parking in the area as it is; it would not be advisable to add more units to a crowded corner. One of my neighbors has discussed that R-7 would not be inappropriate, in order to allow 4 units. Given the specific conformation of the building, I can see that argument. Anything more dense than R-7 would not be appropriate, however.

Thank you,

Thanks.

John Talbott made repeated claims during the Neighborhood Meeting that the property has had six units for 30 years.

I present to the record the attached documents from Docket B-86-91 that makes it clear the property had only three units at the time this appeal was approved. This allowed changing business non-conforming use for one of the units to residential non-conforming use, for a total of three residential units.

Contrary to what John Talbott suggests, I do not believe a full occupancy of six units has been rented out at once on that property until recently, if at all (it may have never had a continuing full, occupancy of six units.)

Thanks. So was the formal application a request for R-8A zoning, as suggested in the minutes, or did they proceed with a request for OR-2?

LOUISVILLE BOARD OF ZONING ADJUSTMENT MINUTES

JUNE 17, 1991

DOCKET NO. B-86-91

Appellant: Cynthia Lawson

Subject: An appeal of an Order to Stop Use issued by the City of Louisville Department of Inspections, Permits and Licenses concerning the change of a commercial non-conforming use to a residential non-conforming use in an R-6 Residential zone.

Premises affected: On property known as 1400 Hepburn Avenue and being in the City of Louisville.

Appearances-Interested:

Maurice Wolford, Code Enforcement Officer, City of Louisville Department of Inspections, Permits and Licenses, 609 W. Jefferson Street, Louisville, Kentucky 40202.

Appearances For Appellant:

Cynthia Lawson, 3015 Sherbrook, Louisville, Kentucky 40205, who submitted slides, petitions with 40 signatures in support, and a tax block and lot number map.

James E. Martin, Captain of Block Watch, 1316 Hepburn Avenue, Louisville, Kentucky 40204.

Appearances Against Appellant:

No one.

On April 26, 1991, the City of Louisville Department of Inspections, Permits and Licenses issued an Order to Stop Use concerning the change of a commercial non-conforming use to a residential non-conforming use in an R-6 Residential zone.

On May 23, 1991, Cynthia Lawson filed an appeal of an Order to Stop Use issued by the City of Louisville Department of Inspections, Permits and Licenses upon the basis that the residential use is less obnoxious and in keeping with the character of the neighborhood.

On June 17, 1991, at a meeting of the Board, a hearing was held on this case. A drawing showing the premises affected and the existing and proposed construction was presented to each Board member.

By general consensus and with the consent of all those present for the hearing of this case, the Board voted unanimously to waive the reading of the staff report. The Board members had received this report in advance of the hearing, and this report was available to any interested party prior to the public hearing. See Addendum for staff report in full.

A map of the site and surrounding area was shown.

Shari Cooper, Court Reporter, recorded the testimony given in the public hearing.

After the public hearing and a further discussion of the case by the members of the Board in open executive session, on a motion by Member Janes, seconded by Member Crawford, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, the Board finds that the subject site is zoned R-6 Residential Multi-Family, that two residential units and one commercial unit are presently located on the site, and that the appellant is requesting approval to change the existing commercial use to residential, which is permitted in the R-6 zone, and

This is an appeal of an Order to Stop Use issued by the City of Louisville Department of Inspections, Permits and Licenses concerning the change of a commercial non-conforming use to a residential non-conforming use in an R-6 Residential zone on property known as 1400 Hepburn Avenue.

The subject property is a rectangle located at the southeast corner of Hepburn Avenue and Edward Street, fronting on the south side of Hepburn Avenue for 30 feet and fronting on the east side of Edward Street for approximately 171 feet.

LOUISVILLE BOARD OF ZONING ADJUSTMENT STAFF REPORT

On April 26, 1991, the City of Louisville Department of Inspections, Permits and Licenses issued an Order to Stop Use to the appellant concerning the change of a non-conforming use on the subject site without the approval of the Board of Zoning Adjustment.

The appellant's grounds for this appeal are as follows: "Changing non-conforming use to residential use is less obnoxious, is in keeping with the character of the neighborhood and has always been three distinct units since 1920's, i.e., two residential units and one commercial unit. Approval for the commercial unit to be a residential unit will further stabilize the neighborhood's residential character. Parking at Hepburn has never been a problem since there is 30 feet plus 170 feet of street frontage equalling about 200 feet of frontage. There is also a two car garage in back built by modern standards. This plan for 1400 Hepburn is very much in keeping with the Highlands Community Development Association goals of:

1. Reinforcing the Highlands area as a vital in-town residential community.
2. Achieving a pattern of compatible and supportive land uses with appropriate transitions from one use to another.
3. Maintaining the integrity of the traditional housing and compatible renovation.
4. Improving and upgrading and be in line with resolving land use conflict of a commercial unit in a residential area.

The population of the area dropped 23% between 1970 and 1980. My goal is to revitalize property in Victorian style elegance with modern conveniences to attract the young urban professionals. We intend to occupy the building by Fall so the property will also benefit by being 'owner occupied'. This too, is in keeping with neighborhood trends described by the Highlands Community Development Association who point out neighborhood deterioration will continue in blocks with land use conflicts."

STAFF ANALYSIS: The following sections of the Louisville and Jefferson County Zoning District Regulations appear to be applicable to this case. The full text of these sections may be found within the Louisville and Jefferson County Zoning District Regulations.

Article 3, Zoning District Rules, C., 1. and 2., a. and c.

Section 4.6, R-4 Residential District, A. Permitted Uses and C., 1. and 4., b..

Section 6.2, C-1 Commercial, A. Permitted Uses.

Section 8.3, Non-Conformance, A. Use and G. Abandonment.

In addition, KRS 100.253 is the State statute which deals with non-conforming uses.

The subject property is zoned R-6 Residential Multi-Family which permits among other uses churches, schools, playgrounds, parks, multi-family dwellings, and single family dwellings.

The site is currently occupied by a vacant photographic shop and two residential units. The photographic shop is located on a large portion of the first floor, and the two dwelling units make up the rest of the first floor and the second floor. The appellant contends that the photographic shop was a non-conforming use and wishes to change from that non-conforming use to a third dwelling unit. There is sufficient land area to allow only two dwelling units on this lot at the allowed R-6 density.

The Zoning District Regulations and State law indicate that a non-conforming use is any legally established activity existing at the time of enactment of any zoning regulation which would not permit such activity. Further, a non-conforming use may continue as then established. However, there shall be no change of the non-conforming activity beyond that existing at the time the non-conformity began. In addition, a non-conforming use may not be changed to any other non-conforming use except that, with the approval of the appropriate Board of Zoning Adjustment, a non-conforming use may be changed to another non-conforming use of the same or a more restrictive classification provided such change will not, in the opinion of the Board of Zoning Adjustment, change the character of the neighborhood or detract from the enjoyment or value of other property in such neighborhood.

The site is zoned R-6 Residential Multi-Family. The site has been zoned for two-family residential or multi-family residential use since 1931, the date of the adoption of the zoning regulations in the City of Louisville. Therefore, in order for any non-conforming use rights to exist on the site for the photographic shop, this use or a similar use would have to have been established on the site since prior to 1931 and would have had to have remained continuous since that date.

The staff has reviewed the Caron's Directories available in the offices of the Planning Commission. Beginning in 1930, the available directories indicate the site was used for a grocery in addition to residential use until 1954. The directories from 1955 to 1958 identified the site as being used residentially. From 1959 until 1963, the directories identify a furniture company as occupying the site in addition to residential uses. The 1964 and 1965 directories indicate residential use at the site, and the 1966 directory identifies the site as vacant. From 1967 until 1976, the directories identify the site as being occupied by a clothing store and residential uses. The 1977 Directory identifies the site as vacant; the 1978 Directory identifies the site as being used residentially; the 1979 Directory identifies the site as being occupied by the "Best Buy Shop" and residential uses. From 1981 until the present the directories indicate the site has been occupied by a commercial photography shop and residential uses.

It appears to the staff that the current situation on the site consisting of two dwelling units in conformance with the R-6 zoning. In addition, there appears to have been a commercial activity in a portion of the building, which commercial activity was not in conformance with the R-6 zone. Whether or not that commercial activity was a legally non-conforming activity is a matter for the Board to determine.

If the Board finds that the prior commercial activity was a legal non-conforming use, the Board must then decide if the change from the commercial activity to an additional dwelling unit, which dwelling unit causes a violation of the maximum number of units allowed on a lot of this size in the R-6 zone, constitutes a non-conforming activity permitted in the same or more restrictive classification than the prior non-conforming activity.

Based upon the file of this case, this staff report, and the evidence and testimony submitted at the public hearing, the Board must determine:

1. If any non-conforming rights existed on the site for the operation of a photographic shop.
2. If the proposed change in use to a third dwelling unit in violation of the maximum allowed density in the R-6 zone constitutes a change to a non-conforming use of the same or a more restrictive classification.
3. If the Order to Stop Use issued by the City of Louisville Department of Inspections, Permits and Licenses of a Certificate of Occupancy was proper.

RE: Appraisal reports on:
1400 Hepburn Avenue and 2328 Sycamore Street

Dear Mr. Beckman:

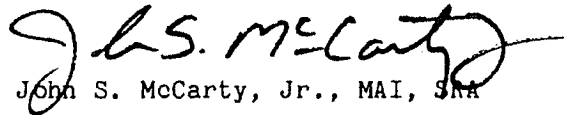

I have enclosed the two appraisal reports you requested. The appraisal on the Hepburn Avenue property would not typically be accepted for a conventional mortgage loan due to the presence of the office space included in the subject property. It is advised that you seek a portfolio loan for this property.

We appreciate you selecting our firm for these assignments. If you have any questions about the appraisals, please contact our office.

Sincerely,

Lindsey Logan, Appraiser

COMMENTS ON IMPROVEMENT

The subject improvement includes a duplex and approximately 1,500 square feet of office space. The owner of the subject improvement, John Beckman, advised the appraiser that he has a non-conforming use certificate for the office space.

The residential rental units include a townhouse unit located in the rear of the subject improvement and a second floor one bedroom unit. Mr. Beckman advised the appraiser that the townhouse unit currently rents for $420 per month and the second floor unit rents for $380 per month. These rental values include utilities which are paid by the owner. Based upon the market data for the neighborhood of which the subject property is a member, the appraiser believes that a reasonable market rent for each of the duplex units is $420 or a total of $840 per month.

The office space of the subject improvement current rents for $350 per month or $.23 per square foot, according to Mr. Beckman. If this space were rented as a residential unit, it is estimated that the market rent would be approximately $450 per month. Multiplying this monthly income figure by the gross rent multiplier of 90, gives an indicated value of $40,500 for the office space if it was rented as a residential unit. The appraiser estimates that it would cost approximately $15 per square foot or approximately $22,500, to convert the office space to a residential unit. Subtracting this $22,500 figure from the $40,500 gives an indicated market value for the office space of $18,000. This figure was used in both the cost and sales comparison analysis sections of this report.

COMMENTS ON SALES COMPARISON APPROACH

All sales used in connection with this appraisal assignment possess similar highest and best use characteristics as those of the subject property. Comparable sale three possesses superior locational amenities as compared to the subject property and the appraiser made a downward locational adjustment of approximately ten percent to reflect this difference.

Comparable sale one is located one street from the subject property. It required downward adjustments for its extra bathroom, larger size and central air conditioning. Upward adjustments were made for its lack of a basement and lack of a garage. An upward adjustment was made to each of the sales used in this report to reflect the contributing value of the office space of the subject improvement which the sales used in this report do not possess.

Comparable sale two required downward adjustments for its superior condition and separate utilities. Upward adjustments were made to reflect its inferior exterior construction, smaller size and lack of a garage.

Real Estate Appraisers - Consultants

In addition to the downward locational adjustment, comparable sale three required another downward adjustment for its two heating systems. Upward adjustments were made to reflect its inferior exterior construction, smaller size and lack of a garage.

The adjusted market data indicates a range in value from $93,400 to $98,250 for the subject property. All sales reasonably support the final value estimate.

Based upon the cost, income and sales comparison analysis sections of this report, it is my opinion that the "as is" market value of the subject is $95,000 as of November 16, 1990.

Please be advised that no items of personal property were included in this value estimate.

It should be noted that this appraisal report would not typically be accepted for conventional loan puposes. It is advised that the borrowers seek a portfolio loan on the subject property.

Re: John Beckman and Theodore Wathen
1400 Hepburn Avenue
Louisville, Kentucky 40204

To whom it may concern:

As requested, we have inspected and appraised the above referenced property.

The subject property is located at the corner of Hepburn Avenue and Edward Avenue in an area presently zoned R-6, Apartment District. At this time, the owner uses part of the first floor for an office (commercial use). However, the most probable legal use is considered to be the use as a three-plex without commercial use. The cost to convert Unit 1 for apartment use is estimated at $5,000 and includes the cost to convert the half bath to a full bath, remove the plumbing from the dark room and convert it to a bedroom, convert the studio area to a living room-kitchen combination and purchase appliances.

The property does suffer some functional obsolescence due to the unit sizes being larger than typical. Typically, one bedroom units in the area range from 700 - 800 square feet in size. Unit 1 and 3 are considerably larger than 700 - 800 square feet presenting some superadequacy. Please note that Unit 3 has a small room that is presently used for storage space that could be used as a small nursery or study. Unit 2 is considered to have two bedrooms although you must pass through one bedroom to get to the second bedroom. This is not an uncommon situation in the area of the subject property.

In the market approach, most consideration has been given to the gross rent multiplier as an indicator of value because it best reflects the value of the three units and the two car garage which is leased separately. The other approaches in the market data analysis do not adequately address the value of the garage.

A tri-plex is not considered an economic entity and is not a true investor property. Many owners of these properties will occupy a portion of the building indicating an amenity beyond the true economic value as outlined in a normal income approach, however, expenses were analyzed. If the net income were capitalized at 8.5% to 9.0% the value from this analysis would be approximately $60,000. The market sales indicated a premium above the economic value as previously explained.

In the final reconciliation, the market value of the subject property has been adjusted to reflect the cost to convert Unit 1 for apartment use. The property is being valued in its "as is" condition.

This is to certify that John Beckman has made application on the 23 day of July, 19 79 to the Department of Building and Housing Inspection of the City of Louisville, Kentucky for a Certificate of Occupancy for the land/premises/building at 1400 Hepburn Avenue, which lies within a(n) R-6 zoning district.

Documents submitted with this application show that a clothing store, a use now permitted in the C-1 zoning district, has continuously occupied the property since before June 18, 1971.

If such building or premises shall conform in all other respects to the Building Code and the other ordinances of the City of Louisville, then the use of the building/land/premises for the purpose of a photographic shop is permissible as a nonconforming use under the

1409 Winter Avenue

It is perhaps surprising to discover that this handsome but modest frame shotgun was first owned and occupied by Herman Dolle, who was, at that time, proprietor of the Falls City Brewery, a seemingly prestigious position. The house was built in 1887 and remained in the Dolle family until about 1905.

1409 Winter is another example of the versatility of the shotgun style. Here the facade is gabled and that gable is decorated by a jig-saw detailed bargeboard and a lovely central spindle. Even the small vents to the attic have highly decorative grills. The facade windows and door are capped with simple hoods.

1425 Winter Avenue

1425 Winter Avenue is a two story brick Italianate residence with lintels incised with floral motifs. The entrance is recessed, which originally provided shelter to the guest. A handsome porch has since been added, with sleek classical pillars. The original door hood has subsequently been removed, and the lintels of the first floor windows can hardly be detected.

This residence was built in 1889 for Herman G. Schmitt, a traveling agent for Cannon and Byers. The house remained in the Schmitt family well into this century.

1400 Hepburn Avenue

Common to older neighborhoods was the corner grocery. 1400 Hepburn Avenue is the most handsome of these corner stores in the Highland Neighborhood, and is virtually unaltered from its original condition. Built as a grocery and residence combined, Conrad Oldiges first opened shop in 1893, and lived in the second floor residence. Oldiges Grocery served this neighborhood until 1924, when ownership changed hands and it became Ruffra Brothers Grocery.

The design of 1400 is a simple, Victorian design. Many elements of detail, such as the cornice work, are seen on many nearby residences. The facade is basically symmetrical with a central entrance flanked by large display windows, culminating on the third level with a central gabled dormer with triple window. This substantial, brick and stone design is off set to the left, however, with a comparatively frail, recessed porch and entrance. Delicate spindles and posts provide a porch to the entrance of the second floor residence. The dual use of the building, therefore, is addressed in its design.

- 1. Reinforcing the Highlands area as a vital in-town residential community
- 2. Achieving a pattern of compatible and supportive land uses with appropriate transitions from one use to another
- 3. Maintaining the integrity of the traditional housing & compatible renovation

AND BE IN LINE WITH RESOLVING LAND USE CONFLICT OF A COMMERCIAL UNIT IN A RESIDENTIAL AREA. THE POPULATION OF THE AREA DROPPED 23% BETWEEN 1970 & 1980. MY GOAL IS TO REVITALIZE PROPERTY IN VICTORIAN STYLE ELEGANCE WITH MODERN CONVENIENCES TO ATTRACT THE YOUNG URBAN PROFESSIONALS, WE INTEND TO OCCUPY THE BUILDING BY FALL SO THE PROPERTY WILL ALSO BENEFIT BY BEING "OWNER OCCUPIED". THIS, TOO, IS IN KEEPING WITH NEIGHBORHOOD TRENDS DESCRIBED BY THE HIGHLANDS COM. DEV. ASSOC. WHO POINT OUT NEIGHBORHOOD DETERIORATION WILL CONTINUE IN BLOCKS WITH LAND USE CONFLICTS.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Lawson:

An investigation reveals that you have changed and/or allowed the change of a non-conforming use on property at 1400 Hepburn being lot(s) 48 of City Block 27-B which lies within an R-6 Zoning District. Such a use is a violation of the Development Code for all Jefferson County.

The Development Code states the following: "... but a non-conforming use shall not be enlarge, expanded or changed except as expressly permitted by KRS 100.253 and by this Section 8.3 A. (Article 8.6 Non-Conforming, <sup>enice</sup> Section 8.3 A. 2.)

The Development Code does not allow the change of a non-conforming use without the Board of Zoning approval in the R-6 zoning district.

Therefore, you shall cease immediate using property in violation of City of Louisville Ordinances. Failure to comply with this notice is a misdemeanor punishable as prescribed by Article 17 of the Development Code for the City of Louisville, (Ordinance 135, Series 1987).

Sincerely,

Maurice Wolford
Zoning Enforcement Officer
Maurice Wolford 625-3804

NOTE: Any person or entity claiming to be injuriously affected or aggrieved by this action may appeal to the Board of Zoning Adjustment. Such appeal shall be taken within 30 days of receipt of this letter and the appeal shall be filed with this office as well as the Board. (KRS 100.261)

Some quick thoughts regarding this request and my own opposition.

The request to change zoning to either OR-2 or R-8A are both contrary to the vision of the Neighborhood Plan, which changed the zoning from R-6 (which allows 2 units on a lot of that side, not considering existing non-conforming rights that allows three) to R-5B, which allows two units total, regardless of lot size. In 1991 the previous owner's request to convert the pre-existing non-conforming use rights of a first floor units from business use (photography studio) to residential use was approved. [ see attachment] It had three units total, two residential and one business. It has remained entirely residential ever since, and all non-conforming rights to allow a business use for that unit have long since been lost.

The request to change zoning to R-8A doesn't revert back to old zoning prior to the Neighborhood Plan, it actually moves in the extreme opposite direction of the rezoning. If a rezoning were to be allowed, it should certainly be no more than R-7, which would allow the lot four residential units. The owner claims that 6 units have always been in place, yet looking through city directories, I find only one listing for a unit #5 or #6 and that is this year. An appraisal done in June of this year that is in the case file shows 6 units, one of which is only 168 square feet. [see attachment] . I asked what the smallest unit size was in the meeting by the way, and the owner said it was around 400 square feet-- not the case. As I said, this kind of dicing up of properties is a reversal of the vision of encouraging more family ownership in the neighborhood by protecting those that do buy and fix up these old houses as single family or duplexes from having properties near them diced up (as back in the Seventies). This is not the trend we want to reestablish. If a triplex is purchased in R-5B for example, the owner has the option of continuing non-conforming use, or convert it into a duplex and give up the non-conforming use, which is the direction the neighborhood plan promotes. Giving up non-conforming rights to seek a rezoning to an R-7 or R-8A is not the direction the neighborhood plan seeks to promote. Buyers should hang on to their existing non-conforming rights or else find another property if they want to have more units.

The powerpoint presentation in the neighborhood meeting by the owner's lawyer, John Talbott, show a comparison between R-5A, R-8A and OR-2 as if R-5A is the existing zoning. It is not-- it is currently zoned R-5B. The presentation shows uses for OR-2, but only shows those that are in addition to the uses allowed by OR and OR-1. He does not present OR and OR-1 uses. all of which are also cumulatively allowed in OR-2.

All the time was spent between neighbors arguing against OR-2 use and none on what kind of R zoning use would be approved of (ie, current R-5B, previous R-6, R-7, or the R-8A which the owner wishes to have if is denied OR-2).

The current diagram of the lot in the case file shows parking spaces along the property, but does not include the dimensions of those spaces that demonstrate they are indeed of legitimate size.

If a buyer intentionally puts himself in a position of needing to prove non-conforming rights and cannot do so, and then seeks a rezoning out of sympathy, an approval of this would just become the template to be used for seeking rezoning of any other properties in the neighborhood, and a defacto dismantling of the progress made with the Neighborhood Plan

FYI I've attached the power point presentation that John Talbott used in the meeting. I recorded the meeting and am creating my own minutes/transcription of what was discussed, since I know Planning & Design only gets minutes from John Talbott.

For some reason John did all his comparisons with R-5A, when it is zone R-5B, which only allows 2 units. The question, though is how many units we can reasonably say have been active and how long, but I believe it was the previous owner that expanded to 6 units, if not the current one, and it would have been done contrary to the R-6 or R-5B zoning of the property. I really think at least that the 5th and 6th units are recent, and I'm not sure the building has ever been fully rented out (unless it was also under-the-table rented as AirBnB at times). But I will have more to say on this as far as my own thoughts go. I think a pull of the Fire Dept records would not show 6 units.

Thanks
Rick

Hello,

I wanted to express my opinion as a neighbor; I live at 1430 Hepburn Ave for 3 years now. Since moving to Louisville in 1996, I have always lived in the Highlands and appreciate the diversity and urban climate. I bought on this street because of its stately homes and knew there were rentals on the block--mine having been a duplex itself. Therefore, I agree with 1400 having 4 rentals because of the history . Parking is an issue so too many habitants could be problematic. As for a business being located there, I oppose the idea. I appreciate walking to the main streets for services but do not want to live on a street with more than what is here now. Walgreens pulls traffic through our street as well as it being a cut through during rush hour. This is a neighborhood. We have get together, gather at holidays with one another, walk in the evenings, kids ride bikes and draw with chalk in the alley, we share gardening tips and harvests just like in suburbia. A business more than that of the rentals, and even that, seems out of place. I would recommend the owner purchasing on a major thoroughfare instead for that business endeavor.

Thanks for your time, Hope
