Hello Ms. Brooks,

I was just informed that the fellow whom purchased the house next door to me last year or two is applying to make the garage apartment into a separate residence for a rental. He already did not get the proper Permits to make that apartment and I don't know if he was ever fined for that or not. I do know the tenants said ever since he ran a water or sewer line through the basement, it leaks now. Anyway, it's already like a circus next door with lots of people and cars coming and going at all hours of the night and a lot of "recreational activity going on. I'm not being a prude, it's just such a nice neighborhood and I hate to see it get run down and then bring right next door to me.

Sincerely,

Gloria Thomas
