Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc. (ΦΒΣ) is a historically African American fraternity. It was founded at Howard University in Washington, D.C. on January 9, 1914, by three young African-American male students with nine other Howard students as charter members. The fraternity's founders, A. Langston Taylor, Leonard F. Morse, and Charles I. Brown, wanted to organize a Greek letter fraternity that would exemplify the ideals of Brotherhood, Scholarship and Service while taking an inclusive perspective to serve the community as opposed to having an exclusive purpose. The fraternity exceeded the prevailing models of Black Greek-Letter fraternal organizations by being the first to establish alumni chapters, youth mentoring clubs, a federal credit union, chapters in Africa and a collegiate chapter outside of the United States. It is the only fraternity to hold a constitutional bond with a historically African-American sorority, Zeta Phi Beta (ZΦB), which was founded on January 16, 1920 at Howard University in Washington, D.C., through the efforts of members of Phi Beta Sigma.

Phi Beta Sigma

The fraternity expanded over a broad geographical area in a short amount of time when its second, third, and fourth chapters were chartered at Wiley College in Texas and Morgan State College in Maryland in 1916, and Kansas State University in 1917. Today, the fraternity serves through a membership of more than 200,000 men in over 700 chapters in the United States, Africa, Europe, Asia, and the Caribbean. Although Phi Beta Sigma is considered a predominantly African-American fraternity, its membership includes college-educated men of African, Caucasian, Hispanic, Native American, and Asian descent. According to its Constitution, academically eligible male students of any race, religion, or national origin may join while enrolled at a college or university through collegiate chapters, or professional men may join through an alumni chapter if a college degree has been attained, along with a certain minimum number of earned credit hours.

Phi Beta Sigma is a member of the National Pan-Hellenic Council (NPHC) and a former member of the North American Interfraternity Conference (NIC). The current International President is Chris V. Rey, J. D.,<sup>(1)</sup> and the fraternity's headquarters are located at 145 Kennedy Street, NW, Washington, D.C.

About this event

"Thanks in part to the American Cancer Society, nearly 14 million cancer survivors are celebrating birthdays this year"

The Epsilon Beta Sigma Chapter of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc. in support of our National partner The American Cancer Society is hosting its Chester Smith Charity Golf Scramble. Proceeds will go to the Louisville branch of the American Cancer Society and Kentucky African Americans Against Cancer (KAAAC).

We would like to invite you to partner with us in our charity event. Your cooperation would enable us to give more needed dollars to the American Cancer Society's work in our community.

PHI BETA SIGMA FRATERNITY, INC.
ANNUAL CHESTER SMITH GOLF SCRAMBLE

The Men of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Epsilon Beta Sigma Chapter Inc., in Louisville, Ky, will host our annual Chester Smith Charity Golf Scramble on Saturday June 18, 2022. This year we are excited to offer you the opportunity to join us as a Corporate Sponsor for this community event. In the past, we have hosted over 100 golfers who have come to play and fellowship with us. Each year we have designated community partners in which we provide financial support to enhance the lives of those in our community.

Since Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc. was founded in 1914, we are still extremely proud to carry out our motto "Culture for Service and Service for Humanity".

We are asking our community partners to assist us in reaching our goal of effective and direct impact to the Greater Louisville community. Your financial support will ensure that the causes we have engaged this year will be better equipped to meet the needs of those who seek assistance. This year we are again proud to work with The American Cancer Society, The Kentucky African American Against Cancer Society and The Sigma Beta Club, our youth mentoring program in the city of Louisville, as well as with our previous benefactors. As you may already know these organizations have a tremendous reputation of bringing much needed services to our underserved neighbors in Louisville, Kentucky.

The scramble will take place at the historic Shawnee Golf Course. There is an entry fee of $70 per person or $280 per team. Registration will begin promptly at 7:00 AM and shotgun tee time is at 8:00 AM. We invite you to join us as a sponsor.
