Neighborhood Meeting Notes

I, Slava Furs, held the neighborhood meeting on November 29th at 6:00PM and it ended at 6:47PM. 6 different people attended but 1 did not sign in. The one that did not sign in was the grandparent of the next door neighbor. I did not get her name. Daniel Foster told me that he wasn't for it before the meeting but after hearing my points, he stated that he sees it would be about the same no matter what kind of a rental it is. I answered all of their questions and concerns and gave them the details on how to voice their opinion. I let them know that there will be a sign in the yard detailing ways they can voice their opinion and the date of board meeting.

- Concerns
 - A lot of rentals already. Problems with long term tenants.

- Won't feel safe no matter how much the owner screens the guests
- Concerned about tenants scoping out the neighborhood to later rob neighbors homes
- Next door neighbor will never feel like there's any privacy.
- It makes the neighborhood unsafe
- Don't want to live next to a hotel
- This will bring the property value of the neighborhood down.

Counters and points to Short Term Rental approval

- Counters
 - “Strangers coming and going in a neighborhood mixed with retired couples and young families is not ideal.”
 - If this property were to be a mid term rental, you could potentially have 12 “strangers” per year without any monitoring, supervision, or rules.
 - If this property were a long term rental, you could potentially have a tenant who could invite a bunch of friends who could be a nuisance and there’s no way to monitor them. Those invited guests would be “strangers as well”. If you get a bad tenant or bad neighbor under a long term rental under a 1 year lease, you are stuck with them for a year.
 - The property owner would be able to rent this out as a mid term or long term rental without any restrictions, so the possibility of “strangers” could come in any form of a rental.

- “Mr. Shaheen has had title to this property for two months and he has made no effort to maintain or clean the property. Mailbox is full and has made no attempt to rake the leaves or clean the yard.”

- Mr. Shaheen decided to wait to have the yard cleared of leaves until it got closer to the beginning of the winter season. If he got the yard cleared too early, there would've been more leaves that would have fallen on the lawn and it would have been an inefficient way to get it done. There is no rule on when you have to get your lawn cleared of leaves.
- Mr. Shaheen has been in touch with different companies since he closed on the property to get renovations done to the interior/exterior of the property.
- Loan officer who is performing the refinance on this property has informed Mr. Shaheen that he should not make any renovations to the property until they complete the refinance. However, Mr. Shaheen has been proactive with calling different companies and having quotes ready to go so that he could get the work started as soon as they finish the refinance.

- “Mr. Shaheen has called a meeting for November 29th to explain his ideas, however, he won’t even be there. His spokesperson, Slava Furs, will be conducting the meeting. This just indicates the hands off approach that leads to rental properties getting bled to death and run down”.

- Mr. Shaheen has a Wife who is 7 months pregnant and cannot attend the meeting due to that reason.

- Mr. Shaheen purchased this house as a secondary property where he plans to stay from time to time with his wife and kids. This property is not being run by a big corporate entity. This is being run by an individual whose focus is to keep the property in well maintained condition and to keep all surrounding neighbors happy while renting it out as a short term rental.

- "A short term rental would put neighbor's homes more at risk for home invasions and burglaries"

- Why would a short term tenant rob the neighbor and then proceed to go back into the home that they are renting? If someone commits a crime of such, their goal is to get away from the property that they committed the crime in as soon as possible and destroy any evidence.

- Home invasion criminals are more likely to be residents of the city that you reside in. Home invasions and short term rentals have no correlation.

- "Short term rentals would put the neighbors at risk and would make it less safe"

- A short term rental allows the property owner to enforce more rules than a mid/long term rental. In fact, it allows the property owner to enforce more strict rules. The owner of a property that is being used as a short term rental is able to implement rules and monitoring mechanisms that prevent parties, noise complaints from neighbors, and illegal activities inside/outside of the home. If any of the rules are broken, airbnb/vrbo gives the property owner the right to immediately remove the guest. A property that is used as a mid/long term rental does not give you the same rights. If a long term tenant is providing problems in the neighborhood (but not breaking the law), the property owner can't evict them for petty nuisances that the neighbors don't like.
- Mr. Shaheen has invested his money into 2 way communication cameras for all exterior entrances of the property, motion detectors, doorbell cameras, noise and occupancy monitoring devices, and an alarm system. These devices are being put into the property to prevent home invasions on Mr. Shaheen's property, verification of the guest checking into the home, verification on the quantity of people, verification that the guest's don't exceed the limit, and to prevent any partying in the property.

- The property will be monitored 24/7. Mr. Shaheen has invested into a company that monitors the cameras and any alerts at all times of the day.

- Points

- A short term rental protects neighbors safety more than a mid/long term rental

- As stated above, the owner will clearly communicate sets of rules that will ensure quiet and safety to the neighbors. There will be quiet time enforced which will ensure that there isn't any partying going on or bothering noises that will disturb the neighbors at night. Airbnb/vrbo gives the owner permission to terminate the stay of the guest who breaks the rules. Therefore, if a guest is causing issues, it would not be persistent and would be met with an automatic removal from the property.

- Any and all neighbors that are concerned or want to express concerns about any guests will have DIRECT contact with Mr. Shaheen.
