Neighborhood Meeting Notes: 3006 Somber Way CUP

Location: Bon Air Library (2816 Del Rio Pl, Louisville, KY 40220)

Date: December 27, 2022

Start time: 6:00pm; End time: 6:30pm

Owners: Michael and Ashley Kimble

Attendance: 3- Michael Kimble, Ashley Kimble, Tim Warren (3502 Johnston Way)

Background information:

- Owner's home was operated as an owner-occupied short-term rental property from May 5, 2022-Sept 25, 2022 (registration number LIC-STL-22-00259 issued April 11, 2022). Owners cleaned the home themselves between guests, cared for the exterior of property (mowing, lawn care, trash removal), and frequently asked neighbors how things were going from their perspective.

Summary of concern raised at neighborhood meeting:

- Neighbor (Tim Warren) had a complaint about one situation where guests were loud and disrupted the neighbor's sleep. Neighbor stated he saw 50 people at the liquor barn for a festival and he believed these people stayed at the Owner's home that night and partied until 2:00am and caused neighbors to stay awake (Owners do not believe that this many people stayed at our property that night or that the guests exceeded the occupancy limit for the property). Neighbor stated he knows people (has two family members who are lawyers) and will make sure this home doesn't become a short term rental. Neighbor stated he was not threatening but was just explaining he had options. Neighbor recorded the meeting, later informed Owners of recording, and later Neighbor had his phone on table to continue recording the meeting. Neighbor said he didn't care what Owners did with the property but his mother (whom also owns the home and lives at the property address) had problems. When asked why Neighbor did not voice concern to Owners, Neighbor stated his mother didn't think it was a big deal with the one occurrence and did not understand that owners had registered the house as a short term rental. Neighbor stated he doesn't call the cops with noise complaints. Owners responded to these concerns as detailed below.

Summary of response to concerns:

- Owners discussed the option to install a noise alert system (ie Noise Aware) to enforce quiet hours. Owners explained the future use of the home as short-term rental would include more cameras to provide better security and deter unwanted behaviors (loud parties, late evening noise complaints, etc). Owners explained target guests are not people who party; target guests are people visiting the area for events, vacations, and family reunions, especially guests with children. Further, Owners explained that Owners will continue to have strict rules against parties and loud noise and will not hesitate to enforce those rules in a timely manner.

Owners intend to deter parties, loud noise, and problem guests with the following steps:

- Cater short term rental to families (offering playpen, high chair, toy boxes, and kids games).
- Require guests agree to house rules that include quiet hours and ban on parties as a condition of booking.
- Require that guests upload a photo and government-issued ID prior to booking.
- Post signage around home to increase awareness of quiet hours.
- Install cameras on the outside of the home near all doors to deter unwanted behaviors.

Owners intend to monitor, respond to, and mitigate the effect of guests who break our rules with the following steps:

- Install a privacy fence to further maintain appropriate and positive relationships with neighbors and give privacy to adjoining neighbors and short term rental guests.
- Install a noise monitoring system to alert Owners of any noise above a pre-set decibel level, which could indicate violation of rules against parties, loud noise, and quiet hours.
- Install cameras around the outside of the home (as noted above), which can be used to identify parties or other issues.
- If guests violate Owners' rules against parties, loud noise, and quiet hours, Owners will contact guests and ask them to comply with rules. If they fail to respond, Owners will contact Airbnb/VRBO and ask their incident team to attempt to contact the guest. If this fails, then Owners will work with the incident team to contact local police to address the issues and will evict the guests if necessary. Owners will then ban these guests from staying at the property again and leave them a negative review, which will deter other hosts from hosting these guests.
- Owners personally clean the property, perform maintenance, and take care of the lawn between each stay. This allows Owners to be aware of any potential issues and periodically check in with Neighbors regarding any concerns. Additionally, Neighbors have contact information for Owners and may contact Owners if any issues with guests arise.
