We have $25,000 in our budget for them already; we have processed as a direct payment as sponsorship in the past, and can do that again at a higher amount, by whatever amount the councilman would like to contribute.

Not sure there is anything formal we do, but yes, we can accept NDF funds, and combine with the funds already set aside. Are you looking for anything in the interim while you decide how much you will be giving?

Thanks, Rebecca. We will need to do the NDF paper work on our end but I think in order to do that we will need something from economic development that says you are willing to increase their grant by whatever the Council NDF process contributes. They are asking for an additional $25,000 but I am unsure they will get that full amount.

Also looping in our fiscal admin who can help set things up in OMB, and Laura Ferguson... do we need our grant agreement with them?

Thanks!

Erin, you should coordinate with Rebecca Fleischaker on this. I've copied her on this email, but she is out of the office today. I'm sure she'll get back to you when she returns, but if you need more immediate assistance, you can contact Scott Herrmann, Director of Econ Dev – also copied hereon. Thanks!

Deborah –

Who handles your grants in Economic Development? Some members are looking to add to the IdeaFestival with an interagency NDF grant and I need to know the point person will be for that.

Thanks,
Erin

Dear Erin,

Thank you for your time yesterday speaking with Mary about how to best proceed with IdeaFestival in terms of NDF and an interagency transfer to Economic Development.

Attached is our statement requesting support from Metro Council members for IdeaFestival.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact Mary or myself.

Thank you!

IDEAFESTIVAL SUMMARY OF $25,000 REQUEST FROM METRO COUNCIL August 2, 2017

IdeaFestival is requesting up to $25,000 from members of Metro Council to be treated as an inter-agency transfer from Neighborhood Development Funds to Economic Development.

IdeaFestival respectfully requests from Louisville Metro Council's Neighborhood Development Funds up to $25,000 in support of IdeaFestival's annual Fall event to be held September 26 – 28, 2017 at the Kentucky Center for the Performing Arts.

The mission of IdeaFestival is to design and provide a platform through live events to promote the discussion and application of innovation, curiosity, discovery and disruptive thinking. It seeks to inspire and empower individuals, businesses, organizations and communities to grow, innovate and stay relevant in the 21st century.

IdeaFestival programming is making a great impact by transforming the image of Louisville, raising the city's awareness nationally and globally as an innovative and entrepreneurial hub.

In 2016, nearly 6.5 million print and online subscribers were introduced to IdeaFestival and Louisville via national media brands like Inc., TechRepublic and ZDNet, along with regional and local coverage. At the local and regional level IdeaFestival benefited from strong partnerships with WFPL, Business First, Insider Louisville and KET among others, sharing our speakers with an even broader audience than the Kentucky Center could accommodate.

Summary of 2017 Speakers

Timothy Harlan M.D. leads Tulane University's unique Center for Culinary Medicine

Rudy Rucker- mathematician, computer scientist, well-known science fiction author and Louisville native

Peter Gray, psychologist exploring the dynamics of the importance of play.

Rise Group – NY-based group leading an exercise surrounding the process of solving complex challenges

Scott Hotaling Ph.D. – climate change biologist

Eric Simanek – chemist, chair and director of the IdeaFactory at Texas Christian University

Joe Geoghegan, Louisvillian and world traveler

Emily Dreyfuss – senior writer at Wired, one of the top ten technology news websites in the world

Anshu Gupta – founder of India-based nonprofit, Goonj and one of India's leading social entrepreneurs

Lars Jan – visual artist, director, writer and the founder of Early Morning Opera

William Kellibrew – advocate for issues surrounding violence, trauma, child abuse and their impact on individuals and families

Richard Kogan M.D – Julliard graduate, concert pianist and psychiatrist explores deep role of music in healing

When else does a collection of superior minds come to Louisville to share their knowledge, thoughts and talent? IdeaFestival is an annual event and to continue to offer this wealth of knowledge to our community, including middle, high school and college students, IdeaFestival needs the support of Metro Council!

Please note that IdeaFestival attendees represent most every Metro district, through students and non-students. This is in addition to IF's national and international attendees.

This request is being made to cover costs associated with producing IdeaFestival. This could include rent and production costs at the Kentucky Center for the Arts, speaker honoraria and associated costs, student attendance subsidies and print and promotional materials.

Respectfully submitted by Tonya York Dees, Planning & Development, IdeaFestival

With the support and interest of:

Councilwoman Angela Leet

Councilwoman Barbara Sexton Smith

Councilman Rick Blackwell

Councilman Pat Mulvihill

Councilman Scott Reed

Erin,

I know David is willing to fund at least at $1,000.00. We sent an email to Ms. York alerting her we would also be willing to champion this NDF previously. We are happy to see that this has been sponsored. Please put him down now as tentatively $1,000.00. We would request this be sent to old business to allow for other members to add on.

Thank you,

On behalf of Councilwoman Angela Leet...

Colleagues –

As you may recall from Committee of the Whole last week, my office is handling the paper work for an NDF grant request for cost associated with hosting the IdeaFestival here in Louisville. This year the IdeaFestival will be held from September 26-28 at the Kentucky Center for the Performing Arts. To learn more about what the IdeaFestival is please visit their website here: <http://www.ideafestival.com/>.

Councilwoman Sexton-Smith, Councilman Blackwell, Councilman Engel and I have all signed on for a total of $3,500.00; however, their total request is for $25,000.00. Your office should have received a letter detailing their request earlier
