My husband and I currently live in a 2 story house with laundry in the basement. In our '70s, we want to age in place in our neighborhood of 40 years. My mother lived in this house for 14 years from her '80s to '95. We need some more space, and the addition will include a fully accessible bathroom, and a laundry room - all on one floor. The addition is 16' across the back of the house plus a 6'1" step out from the current west side. The exterior will be brick matching the existing house. The rear will have a screened-in porch on the east side and two gables with the peaks at the same elevation as the current roofline. The one next to the screened in porch <sup>(dining room)</sup> will have a door to a patio. The gables will be separated by the laundry/mud room with a door to the outside and no gable. The gable on the east side is the master bedroom. The roof line will look the same from the front.

We also request 1) to cover the area between the screened porch door and the garage door, and 2) to remove the plastic shutters which we doubt were original to the house.
