

CLEAR VISION COUNSELING, LLC

7318 Dixie Highway

GROUNDS FOR APPEAL OF DENIAL OF NON-CONFORMING RIGHTS APPLICATION

Clear Vision Counseling, LLC (the “applicant”) proposes to use the existing structure at 7318 Dixie Highway (the “property”) as a professional office for its drug and alcohol treatment and counseling programming. The property is zoned M-2 Industrial, but is surrounded by other commercial uses near the intersection of Dixie Highway and St. Andrews Church Road, including the Walgreens immediately adjacent to the south, a Chase Bank and mattress outlet store across Dixie Highway to the east, and a diner and small retail strip further to the north on Dixie Highway. The building immediately adjacent to the north is a vacant single-story office building.

The proposed use of the property as a professional office is consistent with (and less intense than) the property’s past uses, which varied from its initial use as a market and grocery, to a car dealership, to its most-recent former use as a dry cleaners. The property’s known past uses include:

- Used from 1957 to 1963 as a market and grocery known as Webers Market & Grocery;
- Used from 1965 to 1971 as a Honda of Louisville car dealership;
- Used from 1973 to 1979 as a retail store known as The Music Shop;
- Used from 1981 to 2002 as a retail store known as the Dixie Music Center;
- Used from 2003 to 2006 as a retail store known as Moms Music;
- Used in 2007 as a car dealership known as Lees Automart; and
- Used from 2001 to 2013 as a dry cleaners known as Vogt Dry Cleaner.

Documentation of the known past uses is attached herewith.

The subject property has been zoned M-2 since the 1950’s. The zoning regulations prior to 1963 permitted commercial uses (including use as a professional office) within industrial zones. As set forth above and in the supporting materials submitted herewith, the commercial use of the property existed prior to 1963, as the first known use of the property was as a market and grocery store known as Webers Market & Grocery from 1957 to 1963. Thus, the proposed use as a professional office, which is a commercial use, lawfully existed on the property prior to the adoption of the zoning regulation that makes the use nonconforming. The commercial use of the property has not expanded, or relocated, on the property since the adoption of the zoning regulations in 1963 that made the commercial use of this M-2 zoned property nonconforming.

The applicant filed a Non-Conforming Rights application (the “application”) with the Office of Planning & Design Services (“PDS”) on January 10, 2020. PDS denied the application by letter dated February 13, 2020, on the grounds that there was no documentation of prior use of the property as a professional office and that, although there was sufficient documentation of nonconforming rights as a grocery store, the use of the property “changed several times to other uses not in the same classification as required.” This Board should overturn PDS’s denial.

First, the applicant need not have established that the precise proposed use (as a professional office) existed prior to the adoption, or amendment, of the zoning regulation that made such use nonconforming. Kentucky law is clear that “the ‘established use’ of property . . . is not limited to the actual activities on the day of [the zoning regulation’s] enactment.” Bowling Green v. Miller, 335 S.W.2d 893, 894 (Ky. 1960). Rather, it is sufficient to establish that the proposed use is not a “substantial change” from the established nonconforming use. Id. Kentucky courts have held that a proposed nonconforming use is permitted where the proposed nonconforming use was within the same zoning classification, or “no more obnoxious than,” the established nonconforming use. See, e.g., Smith v. Howard, 407 S.W.2d 139 (Ky. 1966) (continued nonconforming use was permitted where property was used by tractor repair and reconstruction business, by plumbing supply business, and then by screw company). Once established, a nonconforming use is a property right constitutionally protected. See Martin v. Beehan, 689 S.W.2d 29, 31 (Ky. App. 1985) (citing Darlington v. Board of Councilmen, 140 S.W.2d 392 (Ky. 1940)).

Here, PDS agrees that the property has nonconforming rights as a grocery store, which is currently a permitted use within all commercial zoning classifications (C-N, C-R, C-1, C-2, and C-3). The proposed use as a professional office is not a “substantial change” from a grocery store use as it is also a permitted use within all commercial zoning classifications. Indeed, the proposed use as professional office is less intense than the property’s established nonconforming use as a grocery store. Thus, the applicant meets the requirements for nonconforming rights as a professional office under Kentucky law. See Miller, 335 S.W.2d at 894. Accordingly, PDS’s denial should be overturned because PDS applied an incorrect standard to the applicant’s application, and the applicant established that the proposed use was permitted under the prior zoning regulations that made such use nonconforming.

Second, contrary to PDS’s February 13, 2020 denial letter, the use of the property never changed to a use not permitted in any commercial zoning classification. Although PDS’s letter did not specify which former use was not within the “same classification as required,” PDS was presumably concerned about the property’s past use as a car dealership from 1965 to 1971 and in 2007. However, “automobile sales agencies,” “automobile rental agencies” and “automobile service stations” are permitted uses within commercial zones. See Land Development Code, at Appendix 2A. Thus, the former use as a car dealership was permissible within the same zoning classification that also permits both the established nonconforming use (grocery store) and the proposed nonconforming use (professional office). Accordingly, PDS’s denial should be overturned because it erroneously stated that the use of the property changed several times to uses not within the “same classification as required,” when in fact the use of the property has always been permitted within the commercial zoning classifications.

For the foregoing reasons, this Board should overturn the decision of PDS to deny the applicant’s application for Non-Conforming Rights for a professional office use at 7318 Dixie Highway.

The title page features a decorative crest at the top with a crown and a shield containing a tree. Below the crest, the word "CEDAR" is written vertically in large, bold, serif capital letters. Underneath "CEDAR", the word "HOUSE" is also written vertically in a slightly smaller, bold, serif capital letters. At the bottom, the author's name "G. L. VERRY" is printed vertically, followed by the publisher's name "H. C. HARTUNG & SON" and the year "1875".

The City Directory is the natural medium for keeping a business or product name in the spotlight. Insist on Being Well Represented in its Pages.

Out of Sight — Out of Mind — Out of Business

The importance of keeping firm and product names in the public eye is recognized by all business men. It is astonishing to see how a firm or product, however meritorious, will slip
