

Text message received from next door neighbor, Anne Wehrley:

Anne Wehrley said, I got your letters, takes me forever to bother with mail since most of the time it just goes in the trash. I'm on board with your plans. The place is looking nice. Do you need anything from me?

I told her the letters were part of the process and that she might receive more. I told her I was a bit worried about the response from neighbors because I really do want to move there at some point and don't want to alienate anyone.

She said she talks to her neighbors almost daily and no one had said anything to her about it. She expressed that she hopes the renters don't mind dogs because she has four, and I told her not to worry about that.
