Dr Mark Jorrisch PSC

A motion was made by Committee Member Purvis, seconded by Committee Member McCraney, that this Resolution be recommended for approval.

The following spoke to this item:

- Dr. Lori Caloia, Louisville Metro Public Health and Wellness
- Chair Person Yates
- Council Member Dorsey
- Vice Chair Piagentini

The following was discussed:

- The contract is for an addiction specialist with the Moore Center that provides addiction services for methadone treatment.
- Dr. Mark Jorrisch has worked with the Moore Center for close to 30 years.
- The contract has increased from previous years due to a grant from the last fiscal year.
- The grant gives the specialist additional service time and availability to more methadone patients.
- The contract offers a slight pay increase for the position as well.
- The average pay rate for an addiction specialist is $200-$250 per hour, Dr. Jorrisch's pay will increase to $145 per hour.
- The previous pay rate for Dr. Jorrisch was $125 per hour.
- The specialist in the past has never met the allotted time prescribed in the contract.
- This contract allows for additional time so Dr. Jorrisch may oversee all patients that are treated at the methadone clinic.
- The Moore Center is also expanding its medications to treat some patients with suboxone as well.
- Several questions regarding the use of methadone treatment being a more addictive opioid.
- The Moore Center has traditionally been the last resort treatment center in the area and now accepts Medicaid to assist patients to return to functionality.
- Dr. Jorrisch continually makes sure that patients are on the lowest dose of medication for treatment and compliant with the program.
- This is a budgeted role which increased with the grant.

- Questions regarding the time period that Dr. Jorrisch has been contracted with Louisville Metro.
- Questions regarding a possible conflict of interest for Vice Chair Piagentini.
- Discussions for future measureable data outcomes from patient treatment successes, etc.
- Questions regarding the access to the Moore Center as a free clinic.
- The Moore Clinic is not a free clinic but does offer a low treatment rate, the fee holds patients accountable.
- The fee is $80 per week for treatment.
- Discussions regarding the use of methadone versus suboxone and possible prescribed medications in the future.
- Louisville Metro budgeted $90,000 for this contract and the grant covers $93,000.
- Dr. Jorrisch previously contracted at 12 hours per week, this contract with the grant provide for 24 service hours a week. This corresponds to patient volume from 140 patients previously to now a 190 patients.
- Dr. Caloia recommended that Dr. Jorrisch attend a committee meeting to speak to success measures and long term care for addiction treatment and recovery timelines.
- The overall goal is to have patients move from treatment to recovery and expand treatment for other addictive drugs such as cocaine and crack.
- Louisville Metro budgeted funds will be expended prior to grant funds being expended. Also, any savings would be returned to the grant rather than Louisville Metro as the grant seeks to expand services.

The motion carried by a voice vote and the Resolution was sent to the Consent Calendar.
